WEBDEVELOPER MIT FOKUS PHP, JS (M/W/D)

Klagenfurt, Graz, Vienna | fulltime

You have the desire and determination to constantly expand your knowledge and get acquainted with new issues and tasks. You view complex problems as a challenge and enjoy finding solutions. You're a team player and want to give your creative energy full rein? Then you'll particularly enjoy working as part of our motivated, agile team.

#PROFILE

In this exciting position, as part of our marketing department's development team, you'll show the outside world just what Anexia Group developers are capable of. You'll not only provide the technical bases for successful marketing communications, but will also work on various internal systems to categorize customer inquiries or automatically analyze the profitability of advertising expenditure, for example. You'll develop state-of-the-art web applications based on PHP backend and JavaScript frontend frameworks and be confident using content management systems like Typo3 or WordPress. With games programmed by you (e.g. VR), you'll make sure customers can get to know Anexia in a fun and playful way at trade fairs and events. You must be creative, a team player, and enjoy finding solutions and working on complex tasks.
