DATENBANKADMINISTRATOR (M/W/D)

Klagenfurt, Vienna | full time

You’re a team player and a passionate Database administrator? You are driven by passion for and a keen interest in innovative technology, cloud services. You’re highly motivated, interested in new technologies, and hot on quality? If so, you are the right person for this position at Anexia.

#PROFILE

In this exciting position, you are responsible for the administration of common relational / NoSQL databases (MySQL / MariaDB, PostgreSQL, MongoDB, Redis, Cassandra). Ongoing optimization and support of our server infrastructure for high-availability solutions are as much a part of your tasks as the development of solution concepts for our customers, internal projects and in-house products. Security hardening, diagnosis and troubleshooting all systems you are in charge of according to best practices or internal specifications round off the tasks for this interesting position. You'll respond to security holes and downtime notifications independently and be responsible for the planning and implementation of maintenance windows, in consultation with the customer. Your input and ideas will contribute to the success of our company and prove to be particularly important as you carry out a wide variety of challenging tasks. If you're a team player, you'll particularly enjoy working as part of our motivated, agile team.
